

NEWBIE

Posted by jamie1 - 2010/02/02 00:31

Hello All

new member to the site. I have been plastering for myself for 7 years now. I looked into buying a Quattro when I started working for myself with a view to getting into machine plastering but like a lot of people on here was not very impressed with dare I say his name :ohmy: Mr Britten. Hopefully now Utiform seem to be a lot more organised and a lot more information is available. I am looking to trial first with a view to getting a machine for one coat plastering/rendering. I am about to start building my own house so I have the perfect opportunity to get experience with a machine. Trouble is there are so many different machines and so many different opinions about which is the best! Although some opinions seem to be from salesmen :(

=====

Re:NEWBIE

Posted by IanTullochCMG - 2010/02/03 20:36

Hi Welcome to the site !

If you need any information on the machines don't hesitate to contact me via the forum or direct at ian@constructionmachinerygroup.co.uk

I tend to deal with the sales enquiries and Scott with any technical issues.

Keep plastering

Ian Tulloch

=====